Friday morning

Dear Anne

I expected to have heard from you last night & was very uneasy that I am not, imagining the worst. I have just received your letter (11 o'Clock) & am glad to hear so good accounts. I write the more by this opportunity. Augt & Melissa took tea here at Mrs Hunt's & he all went to hear Thompson who is I think a very eloquent man — Every Everett all to nothing. a most remarkably fine voice. This afternoon he is to lecture the Ladies Anti Slavery Society but I shall be busy preparing to go to Mrs Carman's & shall not be able to hear him ask Caroline if there is any thing to be done about it. I am known the 1st of January. & when I think of Mrs Burnett & the Bowles's waiting. I dont think they will feel willing to wait longer from Boyle's. We are all well. I suppose you have been in at home — on the 30th Inst. & heard an early sermon. That would have put you all into preparations in a hurry & all would
